

PROSPECTUS OF THE MISSISSIPPI ADVERTISER.

The undersigned address themselves emphatically to the true, sincere friends of Equal Rights—that is, to those especially who have at heart the advancement of Democracy unalloyed, to a position from whence time nor the restless ambition of unscrupulous men may never thrust it forth. True, we are scarcely from the citadel of Democracy (the ballot box) where a hard contested battle has been fought, and imperishable honors won; but, in order to gather the rich fruits of that glorious triumph, and to stamp the spirit of Democratic Equality indelibly upon the institutions of our common country, we should remember the sage motto: "In time of peace prepare for war," and that the "price of liberty is eternal vigilance."

Our foes, though defeated, are not vanquished: already have they sounded the clarion to gather and again marshal their scattered forces under a new banner—though woefully frustrated in their late unholy attempt to overthrow the freedom of the American elective franchise by unmanly appeal to the passions; they are vigilant, and ready to take advantage of any division which may arise in our ranks, knowing well as they do, their only hope of success lies in their being able to raise a new party name, popular in itself, and thus filter away our strength.

Notwithstanding their having adopted the euphonic name of "American Republican," there are too many of the native instincts of Federalism in their bosom to impose themselves with any hope of success, upon the American Democracy. They still present the same uncompromising hatred to Equality—the same withering contemptuous scorn for the laboring masses—the same intolerable assumption of superiority—the same desire for a consolidated government; chained together by an overwhelming monied aristocracy.

They can never hope to rise again in this country under the name of "Whig"—they cannot gather their scattered forces upon those questions the fiat of the American people have sunk to endless perdition—that is, the Bank, Tariff, Assumption by the general government of State debts. But rise again they will, and on their banner we shall see inscribed, "POLITICAL AND CIVIL DISFRANCHISEMENT" to the wanderer from European despotisms.

Hence it is that we address ourselves especially to those who are with us in sentiment, they cannot but see the necessity there is for maintaining an active, efficient partisan press—one devoted to the spread of sound orthodox Democratic principles—one ever ready to denounce any and every encroachment upon the prerogative of the People. If we neglect those positions that cautious policy bids us watch and guard from danger, the moment we think danger remote, danger then may be nearest us.

But a short season will expire ere we enter the political arena for the fall elections, and our position being one of the most important and commanding in the State, having a large and extensive body of country on both sides of us unsupplied with a democratic paper, we wish to throw as far into the heart of these hitherto neglected counties all matters likely to strengthen the cause we labor for.

We shall vigorously sustain the claim some three or four counties in this section of the State has upon the consideration of the Democratic party. Hitherto we have been overlooked.

So much of our paper as will convey a concise knowledge of the great Cotton markets of Mobile and New Orleans, will command due and most scrupulous attention as to lateness and correctness. The market of this city is revised and corrected weekly by one of our first business houses; Local matters will receive passing attention. The growth and prosperity of this city will be noted and chronicled. The arrival and departure of Steam Boats will be reported.

TO THE FARMERS.

LOOK WELL TO YOUR INTEREST.

THE undersigned begs leave to inform the public generally, and his friends more especially, that he has been to Mobile recently and has procured the best Cast Steel in Europe for making Cotton Gins.

He would like farmers to call and examine his saws at his shop, in the town of Aberdeen. Any person not knowing where the subscriber lives, will be so good as to ask at the Post or Printing Office.

The Gins of the undersigned will make a better Sample of Cotton, than any other Gins, made any where in the States of Mississippi or Alabama, gin ed out of the same bulk or pile. Left to the good judges in Aberdeen. If not he will give the Gin to the purchaser.

As to the prices
